

Abstract

A motorcycle comprising a frame, a front wheel coupled to the frame, and a rear wheel coupled to the frame. An engine is coupled to the frame and adapted to propel the motorcycle. An oil tank is coupled to the frame and adapted to contain oil used to 5 lubricate the engine. The oil tank has an exposed surface. A cover is removably coupled to at least one of the frame and the oil tank to substantially cover the exposed surface of the oil tank.